REMARKS

The cited reference relates to converting 24 or 30 frames per second video to 60 or 72 frames per second video. This is done by interpolating in the extra frames.

The cited reference does not modify a frame in the sequence to alter it from the way it was recorded. Instead, the cited reference only generates intervening frames to make a higher frame rate.

Thus, the new claims patentably distinguish over the cited reference.

Respectfully submitted,
